--- IN HIS IMPERSONATIONS -

MR. WILDER uses NO COSTUMES, depending entirely upon frequent changes of the Voice, Facial Expression and a disarrangement of his hair to produce Varied Effects.

NEW SKETCHES, NEW STORIES, NEW IDEAS. DRAWING CROWDED HOUSES.

PRONOUNCED A SUCCESS BY THE PRESS CRITICS OF THE GREAT CITIES OF THE WORLD.

London, Paris, Edinburgh, Chicago, Boston, Washington, San Fran-cisco, Detroit, New York, Liverpool, Dublin, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Baltimore, St. Paul, Cleveland.

Mr. WILDER has had the honor of appearing before the following personages:

H. R. H. PRINCE OF WALES (On six occasions); H. R. H. PRINCESS OF WALES (On four occasions); T. R. H. PRINCESS LOUISE, VICTORIA AND MAUD; T. R. H. DUKE AND DUCHESS OF CONNUCHT; H. R. H. DUKE OF CAMBRIDGE; T. R. H. DUKE AND DUCHESS OF FECK; T. R. H. PRINCESS ABBAS AND MEHEMET ALI, SONS OF H. R. H. K. HEDIVE OF EGYPT; DUCHESS OF MANCHESTER: DUCHESS OF SUTHERLAND; BARONESS BURDETT COUTTS, LADY WANTAGE, LADY RANDOLPH CHURCHILL, LADY SUFFIELD, LADY DORCHESTER, LADY NORAH HODGSON LADY LONDESBOROUGH, COUNTESS DE GRAY, COUNTESS OF AIRLIE, SIR COUTTS LINDSEY, Baft.: SIR FREDERICK LEIGHTON, P. R. A; LORD WANTAGE, V. C. K. C. B; SIR P. CUNLIFFE OWEN, K. C. M, G. C. B.; EARL LORD CRAWFORD OF BALCARRES, GENERAL VISCOUNT WOLSELEY, K, P. G. C. B.; CAPT. LORD CHARLES BERESSFORD, R. N. M. P. CHARLES BERESFORD, R. N., M. P.

Those who have enjoyed Those who have enjoyed Mr. Wilder's entertainment do not ne'd to be reminded of the pure quality and delicacy of his humor, but we would say to those who have not heard him, that his impersonations, while being of the most mirth-provoking description, are Exceptionally Charte and Reference and the CHASTE and REFINED, and the fact that he is endorsed by the CLERGY, STATESMEN, LEADERS of Society, and Press of both

ENGLAND and AMERICA, is a guarantee of this state-

All His Selections are from memory, which in connection with his Fine Stage Presence and the absence of anything to displease the taste of the most refined, renders the Entertainment most pleasing and gratifying to those before whom he appears. whom he appears.

Mr. Marshall P. Wilder.

Of Mr. Wilder a well-known critic says: "The defender asserted with emphasis that Wilder's style was an original creation that the stereoty ed rules of criticism could not be applied to him. He originated his own methods; stole nothing created fun and developed rare entertainment out of the absurdates, inconsistencies and excesses of human nature, taking his models from Life and imitating them to the letter. He conformed to none of the rules of art that prescribed he should appear justee for one character and some other way when personating a different character. He simply buttoned or unbuttoned his coat, turned up his col'ar, fumbled his hair (right before the audience) and became transformed into the very likeness and personality of the man, woman, or child he represented. In this he shows genius—art unsupported by artifice. Volumes would only tell what was said, suggested, described, praised in this wonderful and unique little man."

The Entertainment is Novel, Refined, and of a High Order of Artistic Merit. It adds to the variety of a Lecture Course.

His Entertainments are particularly desirable from the fact that they can be so well advertised.

Messrs. Brooks & Denton:

I have but just returned from Paris and found your card. I would like you to come and play for me on Sunday evening, the 29th June, for Prince and Princess of Wales. I should like to see you before then some morning to tell you the sort of music to bring with you that evening. Must there be some one for the piano, or do you bring your own accompanist? Saturday morning at twelve perhaps you could come and talk to me.

Yours truly,

BIRD SONGS, BIRD RECITALS, SELECTIONS, HUMOROUS. RECITALS, PATHETIC.

Press Notices.

An entirely new feature at the Casino was the appearance of Mabel Stephenson, the American singing bird, and there is nothing else in the whole entertainment so generally artistic and pretty as her bird songs and minuet.—New York Tribune.

A Whistler Who Doesn't Whistle.

Mabel Stephenson, the bird whistler at the Casino, doesn't whistle at all. She makes those astonishing sweet abrill notes with the throat. This pretty little lady, with her modest bearing and artistic methods is interesting from many points of view.—New York Herald.

Miss Stephenson has a marvellous gift in the way of imitating the song of nearly every bird. The thrush, the impudent bobolink, the quarrelsome robin, the pugnacious sparrow, or the gentle tom, are all faithfully rendered. An additional charm to her delightful entertainment is that her melodious imitations of Nature's sweet songsters are worked into recitations expressly arranged for the purpose.— $N,\ Y.\ Times.$

The Singing Bird.

Miss Mabel Stephenson has won great succes with her bird songs. She does not whistle like most performers who imitate birds. The notes come from her throat and are rich and full in tone. She stands unrivaled in her line and has deservedly won her the title of Singing Bird. The gifted little lady does not confine herself to this one specialty. She recites with rare power and can convulse an audience with laughter by her skill without resorting to grimace or low comedy tricks. She is also a singer of excellent quality. She has a soprano voice of wide range and sweetness and purity of tone. Miss Stephenson occupies a field entirely her own.—New York World.

Mabel Stephenson warbles. The difference between these two unique forms of tune-making lies in the location of the operation. Whistling is a performance confined to the lips and teeth. Warbling takes place in the region of the throat. To the unlettered in such matters the effect is somewhat similar. The connoisseur however, finds not the slighest resemblance between them. This warbling consists of a peculiar form of throat vocalization that is neither singing nor whistling, but just such as a bird does when singing. She imitates distinctly the cries, songs and calls of all birds and animals she has heard. One clever recitation which she gives represents a little girl taking lessons in singing from the bobolink, whereat all the other birds, after the manner of mankind, pour in criticism and illustration, each claiming his way to be the correct one and no other. This sketch gives the young artist an excellent opportunity for dis playing her powers.—N. Y. Sun.

Mr. BURDETT shows admirable judgment in the selection of his pieces, mingling in due proportion the serious with the humorous, and exhibiting a most pleasing variety. His delineations of character are fine, indeed, oft-times side-splitting, but never going beyond propriety, or offending a refined taste. He is instructive, bright and elevating, a charming reciter, entirely natural and easy, and free from all the extravagances of a certain class of elocutionary effort. We can and do endorse him as a man, a gentleman of culture, and a master of his art.

The ventriloquist, A. O. Duncan, is one of the strong features of the bill. He differs from many other vocalists in that he keeps adding new jokes and songs for his dummies to spring. He is a whole show in himself.—N. Y. World.

- A. O. Duncan may well claim the title of "star ventriloquist of the country," for his equal has never appeared in this city. His exhibition of ventriloquial powers is surpassingly fine and very entertaining.—Boston Herald.
- A. O. Duncan, the ventriloquist, is too well known to need much of a notice here. Suffice to say that he is even better than ever, and that is saying a great deal.—Pittsburg Leader.

One of the most excellent features of the performance was that introduced by the great ventriloquist, Mr. A. O. Duncan. The reputation of Mr. Duncan is national, and there is not a city where he has not made a sensation by the display of his wonderful powers.—The Daily Press, Asbury Park.

JENNIE HALL WADE is the leading soprano in the First Reformed Dutch Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., and is well known to concert attendants. She has won from the press and public golden opinions wherever she has appeared. Her voice is an exquisitely trained soprano.

At the recent concert of the Groschel Conservatory of Music in her own city, she sang, with a large orchestral accompaniment, an Aria from Gounod's "Queen of Sheba," concerning which Dr. Gammage, the well-known critic, said in the Brooklyn Citizen: "Miss Jennie Hall Wade, in Gounod's aria from the 'Queen of Sheba,' captured the house by an interpretation and execution which must have been the result of hard study. Her pure high tones were delivered with power combined with sweetness, and her emphatic enunciation and clean-cut pronunciation of the words of the text could be distinctly heard and understood by every one present. It was past 10 o'clock, but the audience became so enthusiastic that the dainty little lady was compelled to reappear, singing in winsome and pathetic tone "Bonnie Sweet Bessie," and these two songs, so widely divergent in scope, prove clearly the versatility of the singer." singer.'

The Club is under the personal direction of

MR. H. W. GREENE,

Secretary and Treasurer of the College, formerly Director of the Trinity College Glee Club of Hartford, and later of the Glee Club of the University of the City of New York.

The Club, which is organized with the view to strengthen the Free Scholarship and Building Funds of the College, is a permanent institution, and invites the patronage of all admirers of a refined type of musical art.

The programmes are planned in conformity with the entertaining character of similar College ganizations, but advance a step and introduce new and delightful features hitherto impossible with a male Club.

In addition to the Club are to be secured a fine Harpist, Violinist, Pianist and Elocutionist, all connected with the College.

At a regular meeting of the Executive Council of the Metropolitan College of 'Music, the tollowing motion was adopted by unanimous vote:

Moved that the Metropolitan College Glee Club is authorized to give entertainments for the purpose of strengthening the Free Scholarship and Building Funds of the College, and is fully recognized and endorsed by this Council.

I consider Miss May Miller a vocalist of much ability. She has a pure soprano voice of good power and compass, flexible and very sweet. Her singing is charming in its evidence of refinement and careful culture. In her best efforts her voice recalls the bird-like notes of Madame Gerster. She has sung as chief soprano in my church choir and at many concerts with great acceptance. I trust she will achieve the success her talent well deserves.

Little Walter Leon,

(Aged Six Years.)

AMERICA'S YOUNGEST ORATOR AND CHARACTER ACTOR.

From the New York Herald, April 27th, 1892.

"Little Walter Leon played the part of "Chrysos' Slave" with an aplomb and an evident appreciation of humor of his lines that brought down the house whenever he opened his lips."

From the New York World, April 27th, 1892.

In its notice of "Pygmalion and Galatea" at Palmer's Theater, by star cast of prominent stage children, says; "With less than twenty lines he made himself the star of the performance. * * * * and at his exit, not five minutes later, the baby orator made his bow and bore away the laurels."

From the New York Recorder, December 28d, 1891.

Baby orator Walter Leon recited a melodrama, impersonating to life the "mortgaged tather," the "heavy villian," the "unfortunate maiden," and the "gallant lover," and doing it in such a way that the women clapped their hands and sighed, "Oh! the sweet little fellow!" while the men applauded wildly, and cried "He's a wonder, by Jove."

RECITING A POEM OF THE POET WHILE HE IS DRAWING THE PICTURE.

These portraits as well as the landscapes are works of art and cause people to wonder and marvel.

S. M. Spedon has no superior in his line. His entertainments are the embodiment of all that is required to entertain, instruct and delight an audience, full of Humor, Pathos, and Amusement. In full view of the audience, stands a drawingboard to which are tacked several large sheets of drawing paper, 5 x 3½ feet. As Mr.

SPEDON talks he

Draws with different colored crayons and chalks.

Draws with different colored crayons and chalks. If he talks upon character, he draws upon the paper different individuals. By a quick touch of his cravon here and there he changes the who'e expression and brings about a complete transformation, entirely unexpected and consequently most delightfully surprising. He shows the characteristics of the child, and by the skillful use of his crayons he builds up from an infant's face a full-grown and full-fledged man, showing the characteristic growth and development; and so on he discourses upon the characteristics of dress, national characteristics, and the characteristics as displayed and brought out in the caricaturist's art.

He draws faces from the audience in illustration of this point.

MASTER CECIL J. HARBORDT,

(CHILD ARTIST,)

Character Songs, Whistling Solos,
Humorous Recitations,
Banjo.

T is almost impossible to speak too highly of this remarkable child. He is a natural artist, with none of those disagreeable evidences of being trained, which are so apparent in most children's performances. He has made an extensive tour of the Western and Southern States, meeting with great success everywhere, and is spoken of as "The Little Genius." His work is of the most refined order, as suitable for church and drawing-room entertainments as for the regular theatrical work

DUNCAN, * MAGICIAN. *

Not the "Same old Chestnut" but Something New!

Genuine Hand-Work, without Apparatus, a Specialty.

A refined, new, and thoroughly enjoyable entertainment adapted for Church, Parlor, Hall, Lodge Room, or Stage.

Simple or elaborate—one or two numbers, or an entire evening's programme, as desired.

From the N. Y. Press, February 8, 1892:—"Mr. H. M. Duncan, with his sleight of hand illusions, absolutely bewildered every one present. His intensely skillful manipulation of the cards is assisted by no mechanical appliance whatever. He relies only on his dexterous fingers and produces some amazing results. The enthusiasm which had been growing all the evening broke all bounds at the conclusion of his tricks, and he was applauded to the echo."

From the N. Y. World:—"Mr. Duncan's entertainment is unique, and was given in the Austin Room last evening to a room full of delighted people."

From the Brooklyn Times:—"Mr. Duncan's performances are exceedingly clever, many of his deceptions being rendered with almost an entire absence of apparatus. His card manipulations are the best we have seen."

Miss Anita Loader

H AS moved to the front as a finished Reader and Reciter, and now holds an enviable position in the affections of our metropolitan audiences. Everything she does is touched with a grace and power of expression all her own. Among the multi-tude of readers who crowd the platform, it is refreshing and inspiring to meet one like her, who amuses, instructs and entertains by natural methods, from which all merely theatrical tricks and contortions are notably absent.

Her repertory, while containing the best pieces now held in high esteem, has also many selections that are scarcely known.

DORA VALESCA BECKER.

AMERICAN VIOLINISTE.

Miss Becker is prepared to accept engagements for Concerts, Musicales and Musical Festivals.

In introducing Miss Becker to managers of musical entertainments, the undersigned would respectfully refer to her abundant and lengthy array of Press Notices, especially those of the New York and Berlin (Germany) leading papers, of which short extracts will be sent on application. They unanimously bestow upon her the highest praise as leading, unsurpassed, and exquisitely finished artist. After a three years' study under the great Joachim she had the honor of being the Soloist of the Philharmonic Society in B-rlin, (May 7th, 1890,) where she scored an instantaneous success. Since she appeared there and in this country in the most renowned concert organizations, as well as in private entertainments.

Union Square Concert Company.

MISS EMILIE SCHNEELOCH, - SOPRANO

MISS MARTA SCHNEELOCH, - READER
THE BROTHERS PERRY, INSTRUMENTAL SOLOISTS

NOTICE.

The artists who represent The Union Square Concert Concert Company hardly need an introduction, having already secured a most favorable verdict, not only in the Metropolis but also in the principal cities in the Union, yet the management takes pleasure in calling attention to the names of Miss Emilie Schneeloch, soprano, and Miss Emma Schneeloch, contralto, two young songstresses, who, during two seasons, won golden laurels while they were travelling with Gilmore's celebrated band; Miss Marta Schneeloch, a highly accomplished reader, who captivated the most cultured audiences by her intelligent and able delivery, and to The Brothers Perry, two instrumental soloists of remarkable versatility.

In selecting the above-named artists the main object in view was to form a combination of undoubted excellence which would not only satisfy the most critical and eclectical audiences, but also please popular taste, by presenting a programme embracing artistic, intellectual and amusing features. The management is convinced that The Union Square Concert Company fills a long felt "desideratum," which cannot fail to meet with great success.

Handsome New Lithographs, Three Sheet Bills, Couriers, Dodgers, will be liberally supplied FREE by the management.

MR. HENRY T. BRYANT, VENTRILOQUIST, HUMORIST, And POLYPHONIST.

A RECORD of twenty-five years of unabated success is sufficient proof of Mr. Bryant's versatilities and wonderful abilities to please and entertain the most critical of audiences. He has appeared time and again before the leading Church Societies, Sunday-schools, Lyceums, Y. M. C. A.'s, etc., throughout the Country. He is original; very few humorists can say that.

MR. BRYANT was much sought after in New York and vicinity the past season. The novelty and originality of his entertainment far exceeding anything that has been seen there for years. An early application is desirable, as his time in New York is so occupied that he can give only a limited number of evenings outside.

The entertainment is refined, very amusing and free from anything to offend. It is full of variety and the interest is kept up without dragging a single second.

He can be engaged alone, as he easily fills an entire evening, or in connection with others. Plenty of attractive printing.

LUIS T. ROMERO,

₩ GUITARIST. ₩

THERE has never been a time in this country when the interest in guitar music was as active and determined as it is now. Up to within a short time it was considered as suited only to light accompaniments of a monotonous character, and not capable of anything worth the serious attention of good musicians.

The wonderful capabilities of the guitar as a solo instrument, however, were not made known to us until the first performances of Señor Luis T. Romero, who is, beyond all question, the leading master of the guitar in this country. Born in Madrid, a guitar player from boyhood, Senor Romero has been a solo performer for many years, and has been heard in all the great cities of the United States. His repertoire is very extended, and includes the most popular as well as the most serious and scientific compositions.
